The Month in Review

Macro-Economic Review

The positive momentum witnessed in the previous two months accelerated further in Nov'23, on the back of the successful first review with the IMF, optimistic news flows of potential investments by allied countries, announcement of the tentative elections date, increase in gas prices (IMF requirement to reduce the growth of circular debt) and marked YoY improvement in CAD. On the external front, the Current Account depicted a sharp rebound, clocking in at ~USD 74mn (vs. ~USD 0.8bn in SPLY, down 91% YoY), largely owing to better Remittances, and lower Import prints. The Fx reserves remained nearly flat on a MoM basis (down 5% YoY) at ~USD 12.4bn. Going forward, although inflows via potential investments and multilateral/bilateral flows and potential rollovers may keep the Fx reserves at healthy levels. But, the easing of import constraints and potential external funding gap continue to pose downside threats to the external position, in our view.

Remittance flows are likely to improve on the back of the narrowed gap between the interbank and open-market USD rates (more flows through official channels), around the required difference as per the IMF, as well as an expected rebound in the global economy. The PKR depreciated by a mere ~1% MoM to ~PKR 285.

Headline inflation in Nov'23 clocked in to ~29.2%, compared with ~23.8% in SPLY and ~26.9% illustrated in the previous month, largely owing to the steep gas price hike. On a MoM basis, inflation increased by ~2.7%. Core-Inflation decreased to ~21.5%, from ~21.8% in the month prior. Going forward, upside risks to inflation prevail as power / gas tariffs have recently been revised upwards, as well as the potential for hikes in fuel prices owing to uncertainty regarding international oil prices.

During the month, the FBR collected tax to the tune of PKR 736bn, successfully surpassing the revenue target for the fifth consecutive month. With this, the FBR's 5MFY24 tax collection of PKR 3,484bn grew by 30% YoY (PKR 34bn more than the target for the period). Therefore, the FBR seems to be on pace to achieve the year-end target agreed with the IMF.

The Month in Review

Equity Market Review

The KSE-100 crossed the 60,000 level during the month, trading in never before explored territories, gaining +16% MoM (+15% in USD terms for the second consecutive month), to close at the ~60,500 level. The emergence of clarity on the political front, news flows regarding foreign investments in the country, improvement in macroeconomic indicators (ex-inflation) and an overall improvement in investor confidence propelled the index above the 60,000 level (all-time high level). With regards to trading activity, the overall average daily volumes and traded value in the KSE-All Share Index surged ~82% MoM to ~655mn shares (versus 360mn in Oct'23) and ~PKR 21bn (from ~PKR 11bn in the previous month), respectively.

The major sectors which drove the bourse during the month (second consecutive month) were the Commercial Banks (2,095 points), Power Generation & Distribution (900 points), Cement (862 points), Fertilizer (751 points) and Oil & Gas Exploration (632 points). Other sectors with over triple-digit positive contributions included the Automobile Assemblers (443 points), Technology & Communication (421 points), Oil & Gas Marketing (348 points), Food (302 points), Textile Composite (298 points), Chemical (284 points), Pharmaceuticals (245 points), Miscellaneous (227 points), Tobacco (118 points), and the Glass & Ceramics sectors (112 points). During the month, no sectors were dragged in the red zone. With regards to investor flows, Foreigners drove the market with Net Buying to the tune of ~USD 34.50mn, followed by Companies (~USD 14.90mn primarily buybacks), Insurance (~USD 12.18mn), and Individuals (~USD 1.09mn). On the flip-side, selling was majorly done through Banks (~USD 46.04mn), Others (~USD 8.73mn), Brokers (~USD 6.36mn), Mutual Funds (~USD 1.43mn) and NBFCs (~USD 0.11mn). Going forward, the Index will continue to mirror the macroeconomic and political landscape. Any material and sustainable positive developments will sustain the rally, in our view. We highlight that the market continues to trade at relatively cheap valuation multiples. Also, we highlight that an interest downcycle may further fuel interest in the Equities market.

Debt Market Review

During the month, the State Bank held three T-bill auctions, raising ~PKR 983bn, ~PKR 1,025bn and ~PKR 1,015bn, respectively. In the first auction, weighted average yields realized in the 3M / 6M / 12M tenors clocked in at ~21.8% / 21.8% / 21.9%, respectively. Weighted average yields in the second auction for the 3M / 6M / 12M tenors clocked in at ~21.3% / 21.5% / 21.4%, respectively. Weighted average yields in the third auction for the 3M / 6M / 12M tenors clocked in at ~21.3% / 21.3% / 21.3%, respectively, owing to expectations that interest rates have peaked. A similar trend was witnessed in the GIS VRR auction held on the last day of the month, as the margin decreased by 100bps / 21bps / 10bps in the 1Y / 3Y / 5Y tenors, respectively (cumulatively raising ~PKR 80bn competitive and ~PKR 10bn non-competitive). In the GIS FRR auction, the cut-off rental rates in the 3Y and 5Y tenors clocked in at 16.19 / 15.75, respectively.

Performance Review

Benign developments and stability on the domestic macroeconomic front continue to manifest, with PKR/USD stable around PKR 285/USD during November 2023, while inflation & interest rates also appear to have peaked. We expect interest rates to start declining from early-mid CY24, while secondary market yields have further incorporated expected interest rate cuts, even more so than during October. In this backdrop, the fixed-income funds under FIPF will now seek to reinvest maturities and coupons into longer-tenor fixed- & floating-rate securities to lock-in high yields and/or relatively higher spreads.

On the equities side, FIPF maintains a strong bias towards high-quality cash-rich companies with good earnings visibility and non-cyclical businesses which are either beneficiaries of high domestic interest rates, higher commodity prices, or power and gas tariff revisions. However, exposure has and will continue to increase opportunistically in some cyclical sectors that are likely beneficiaries of PKR strengthening. This strategy is expected to provide stable, attractive returns over the medium-term.

Performance Review

Benign developments and stability on the domestic macroeconomic front continue to manifest, with PKR/USD stable around PKR 285/USD during November 2023, while inflation & interest rates also appear to have peaked. We expect interest rates to start declining from early-mid CY24, while secondary market yields have further incorporated expected interest rate cuts, even more so than during October. In this backdrop, the fixed-income funds under FPF will now seek to reinvest maturities and coupons into longer-tenor fixed- & floating-rate securities to lock-in high yields and/or relatively higher spreads.

On the equities side, FPF maintains a strong bias towards high-quality cash-rich companies with good earnings visibility and non-cyclical businesses which are either beneficiaries of high domestic interest rates, higher commodity prices, or power and gas tariff revisions. However, exposure has and will continue to increase opportunistically in some cyclical sectors that are likely beneficiaries of PKR strengthening. This strategy is expected to provide stable, attractive returns over the medium-term.
